1977 OCUFA Teaching Awards Program

Nominations are now being accepted for the 1977 OCUFA Teaching Awards.

Teaching in the context of the OCUFA awards embraces virtually all levels of instruction - graduate and undergraduate teaching, professional and continuing education and faculty development. Activities such as course design, curriculum development, organization of teaching programs and other significant forms of leadership are often important contributions to the instructional process. Those who excel in any of these are eligible for the OCUFA Teaching Awards.

Nominations are invited from individuals or formal and informal groups of students, faculty and administrators. No standardized form of nomination is used since the character of supporting documentation will vary widely from case to case.

The number of awards for 1977 will be limited to ten and these will be presented at the OCUFA Fall Council meeting in October.
